

Procedures for Managing Child Safe Incidents or Concerns Involving Mansfield Steiner School or its Staff, Volunteers, or Contractors

Introduction

For the purposes of this policy, we use the terms “staff” and “staff member” to include all teaching and non-teaching staff, Governance Committee members, volunteers, contractors and external providers.

Complaints involving:

- » breaches of the Child Safe Codes of Conduct
- » child abuse, grooming or other harm of a current or former student by
 - current or former staff members
 - current or former students and
 - other people on Mansfield Steiner School premises or at Mansfield Steiner School events
- » “reportable conduct” as defined in the Child Wellbeing and Safety Act 2005 (Vic)

Child Safe Incidents or Concerns

We call any behaviour, that may be:

- » a breach of our Child Safe Codes of Conduct or
- » child abuse, grooming, or other harm
- » reportable conduct
- » other child safety-related staff misconduct

as a “child safe incident or concern”.

It does not matter whether the conduct or behaviour is by a staff member, another student, a parent/carer, or any other person on Mansfield Steiner School premises or at Mansfield Steiner School events.

Breaches of the Child Safe Codes of Conduct

Mansfield Steiner School requires all staff members, parents/carers, visitors, and other adults in Mansfield Steiner School community to comply with our Child Safe Code of Conduct.

Staff members must also comply with our Staff and Student Professional Boundaries policy.

Students must comply with our Student Code of Conduct.

Any breach of these Child Safe Codes of Conduct is considered a child safety incident.

Child Abuse, Grooming, or Other Harm of a Student

Our Child Safe policies set out the different definitions and key indicators of child abuse, grooming and other harm of students. The following is covered by these definitions and indicators:

- » sexual abuse and sexual offences
- » grooming, behaviour, grooming offences and encouragement (to engage in sexual activity) offences
- » physical abuse and physical violence
- » emotional or psychological harm
- » neglect

In addition to family members, other adults associated with a student can subject the student to these behaviours, including staff members, other students, and other people associated with the Mansfield Steiner School.

Reportable Conduct

Mansfield Steiner School has a legal obligation to investigate and report to the Commission for Children and Young People (CCYP) all incidents or allegations of “reportable conduct,” or of staff misconduct that may be “reportable conduct”, as defined in the Child Wellbeing and Safety Act 2005 (Vic) (CWS Act).

Section 3 of the CWS Act defines “reportable conduct” as:

- » a sexual offence or sexual misconduct committed against, with or in the presence of, a child, whether or not a criminal proceeding in relation to the offence has been commenced or concluded
- » physical violence committed against, with or in the presence of, a child
- » any behaviour that causes significant emotional or psychological harm to a child or
- » significant neglect of a child

Not all physical contact, verbal communication, and other behaviour of staff members is reportable conduct. Reasonable or accidental conduct is not reportable conduct.

Some examples of conduct that is not reportable conduct include a staff member touching a child on the arm to get their attention, guide them or comfort them, a teacher raising their voice to attract attention or restore order in a classroom, or conduct that is established to be accidental.

Other Child Safe-Related Staff Misconduct

“Misconduct” is defined by the CCYP as conduct that is a departure from the accepted standards of the role and is intentional or seriously negligent.

At the Mansfield Steiner School, child safety-related staff misconduct includes:

- » breaches of key child-safe policies/procedures
- » purposeful neglect of duties/responsibilities
- » alcohol and/or other substance abuse
- » physically, verbally, or emotionally abusive behaviour with or in the presence of students
- » other behaviour or conduct that risks the safety or well-being of students or others at the Mansfield Steiner School.

Child safety-related staff misconduct is considered a child safety incident.

Child Safe-Related Complaints

It is critical that the broader Mansfield Steiner School community tells us about all child safety incidents or concerns that occur at or otherwise involve the Mansfield Steiner School. This enables Mansfield Steiner School to ensure the safety and well-being of students and to comply with its legislative reporting obligations.

We call any reports made to Mansfield Steiner School about child safety incidents or concerns at or involving Mansfield Steiner School or its staff members a child safe related complaint.

Investigating and Managing Child Safe related Incidents and Complaints

IMMEDIATE ACTIONS

Depending on the nature of the incident, complaint, allegation or concern, after receiving the internal report or the child safe related complaint, Mansfield Steiner School will:

- » determine whether the conduct in question amounts to child safe related staff misconduct, as defined in this policy, and/or reportable conduct that must be further investigated and reported to the CCYP
- » if required by law or by our child safe policies and procedures – report the matter to Child Protection, the Police and/or other relevant external agencies.

Mansfield Steiner School will conduct an initial risk assessment in consultation – if an external report has been made – with the Police or Child Protection, to identify and mitigate any ongoing risks to student safety and wellbeing.

Mansfield Steiner School will also ensure that support is provided to any students, staff members, and family members impacted by the incident, concern, or complaint.

THE INTERNAL INVESTIGATION

Mansfield Steiner School will then conduct an internal investigation of the incident or complaint, led by the Principal or an external investigator.

However, if Child Protection or the Police are investigating the alleged conduct, that investigation takes precedence and Mansfield Steiner School's investigation will only proceed with their permission.

When conducting the internal investigation,

Mansfield Steiner School follows the National Office of Child Safety's Complaint Handling Guide: Upholding the Rights of Children and Young People. The flowchart in the appendix sets out how these procedures work.

All internal investigations uphold the principles of procedural fairness and confidentiality – information is only shared with those who need to know.

Investigating and Managing Behaviour by a Student Against Another Student

Responding to this kind of child-safe-related incident or complaint involves considering the Mansfield Steiner School's duty of care both to any student who is a victim and to the student who is the alleged perpetrator, as well as to other students.

The principal will follow our student discipline policies for these investigations.

Investigating and Managing Behaviour by Non-Staff Members on Mansfield Steiner School Premises or at Mansfield Steiner School Events

Where the child safety incident, or the child safe related complaint, involves behaviour by a person who is neither a current or former Mansfield Steiner School student nor a current or former staff member (for example they are a parent /carer or a visitor whose behaviour occurs on Mansfield Steiner School premises or at a Mansfield Steiner School event), Mansfield Steiner School's investigation is generally limited.

It may involve only the risk assessment and a subsequent review of our systems, policies and procedures to ensure the future safety and well-being of our students.

Investigating and Managing Reportable Conduct and Breaches of the Child Safe Codes of Conduct that Amount to Reportable Conduct

When a child safety incident or concern involves, or a child safe related complaint alleges, conduct that amounts to reportable conduct, Mansfield Steiner School is required by law to notify the CCYP and to conduct an internal investigation.

When conducting these internal investigations, Mansfield Steiner School follows the CCYP's Guidance for Organisations: Investigating a Reportable Conduct Allegation which sets out the minimum standards that must be followed when planning and conducting reportable conduct investigations under the CWS Act.

The steps that will be followed for reportable conduct investigations include:

- » Planning the investigation (including planning the involvement of the child)
- » Information gathering
- » Staff member response
- » Ensuring support during the investigation
- » Making findings and determining outcomes/ actions
- » Taking action

In addition, further risk assessments are conducted during the internal investigation and at the end of that investigation.

Investigating and Managing Child Safety-Related Staff Misconduct and Breaches of the Child Safe Codes of Conduct that do Not Amount to Reportable Conduct

Child safe related staff misconduct that does not amount to reportable conduct, and minor breaches of the Child Safe Codes of Conduct by staff members that do not involve child abuse, grooming, or other harm or a risk of child abuse, grooming, or other harm, are managed through our Human Resources policies and procedures relating to discipline and termination.

If a child safe related complaint has been made about the conduct, and it is determined through the Mansfield Steiner School's investigation that child safe related staff misconduct or a minor breach of the Child Safe Codes of Conduct has occurred, Mansfield Steiner School will notify the complainant of the finding and of the corrective actions that will be taken.

Record Keeping About Investigations

Records are kept at each step of the investigation process including:

- » records received or created during investigations (such as notes of interviews and documents received)
- » records of findings

- » records of actions proposed and taken.

These are kept in a safe and secure location.

REVIEWS OF INVESTIGATION PROCEDURES AND OUTCOMES

Internal Reviews of Complaint Outcomes

If a child safe related complaint has been made, the complainant and other people who are involved in the matter (such as a staff member, a student who is the alleged victim, and their parent/carer) and who are not satisfied with the management or outcome of the complaint may request an internal review of:

- » the procedures undertaken
- » findings made
- » disciplinary actions proposed or taken and/or
- » other outcomes (including a decision not to make a finding or to take disciplinary or other action).

Requests for internal reviews should be made to the Principal, Child Safe Officer or Governance Committee Chair

External Reviews for Overseas Students

If an overseas student is not satisfied with the outcome of Mansfield Steiner School's internal investigation, they may lodge an external appeal through the Overseas Students Ombudsman (OSO) which investigates complaints about problems that overseas students or intending overseas students may have with private education and training in Australia. The services of the OSO are free.

Oversight of Reportable Conduct Investigations by the CCYP

The CCYP monitors compliance with the Reportable Conduct Scheme in Victoria and oversees investigations of reportable conduct undertaken by the Mansfield Steiner School. The CCYP can:

- » support and guide Mansfield Steiner School to conduct a robust and fair investigation
- » initiate, in limited circumstances, its own investigation of the matter.

Any person who believes that Mansfield Steiner School has inappropriately handled or inappropriately responded to an allegation of reportable conduct can notify the CCYP. The contact details for the CCYP are as follows:

Disclosing Information to Mansfield Steiner School Community

Mansfield Steiner School will consult with any relevant external agencies (such as Child Protection or Police) to determine when, what and by whom information can be shared.

Sharing Information with Parents/Carers and Students

The parent/carer of a student who is an alleged victim of a child safe related complaint, or any child safety incident or concern occurring at or involving the Mansfield Steiner School, has a legitimate interest in being told that their child is an alleged victim and of the nature of the incident, complaint or allegation.

The parent/carer and student also have a legitimate interest in being informed of the process, progress, and findings of any investigation, and of any action that might be taken after the investigation is completed.

However, special issues may arise that require an adjustment to normal information-sharing practices. Legal impediments may impact the timeliness of disclosing information, the type or amount of information that is disclosed, and to whom the information is disclosed, particularly in the case of reportable conduct allegations.

Sharing Information with the Wider Mansfield Steiner School Community

Mansfield Steiner School takes great care to assess the relevance and appropriateness of sharing information about a child safety incident or concern, or a child safe related complaint, before providing any information about it to the wider Mansfield Steiner School community. This is because even the confirmation of an incident or allegation can lead to the identification of a victim.

Generally, information that may identify the victim of the incident, concern, or complaint will not be shared with the wider Mansfield Steiner School community without the consent of the victim and/or their parent/carer.

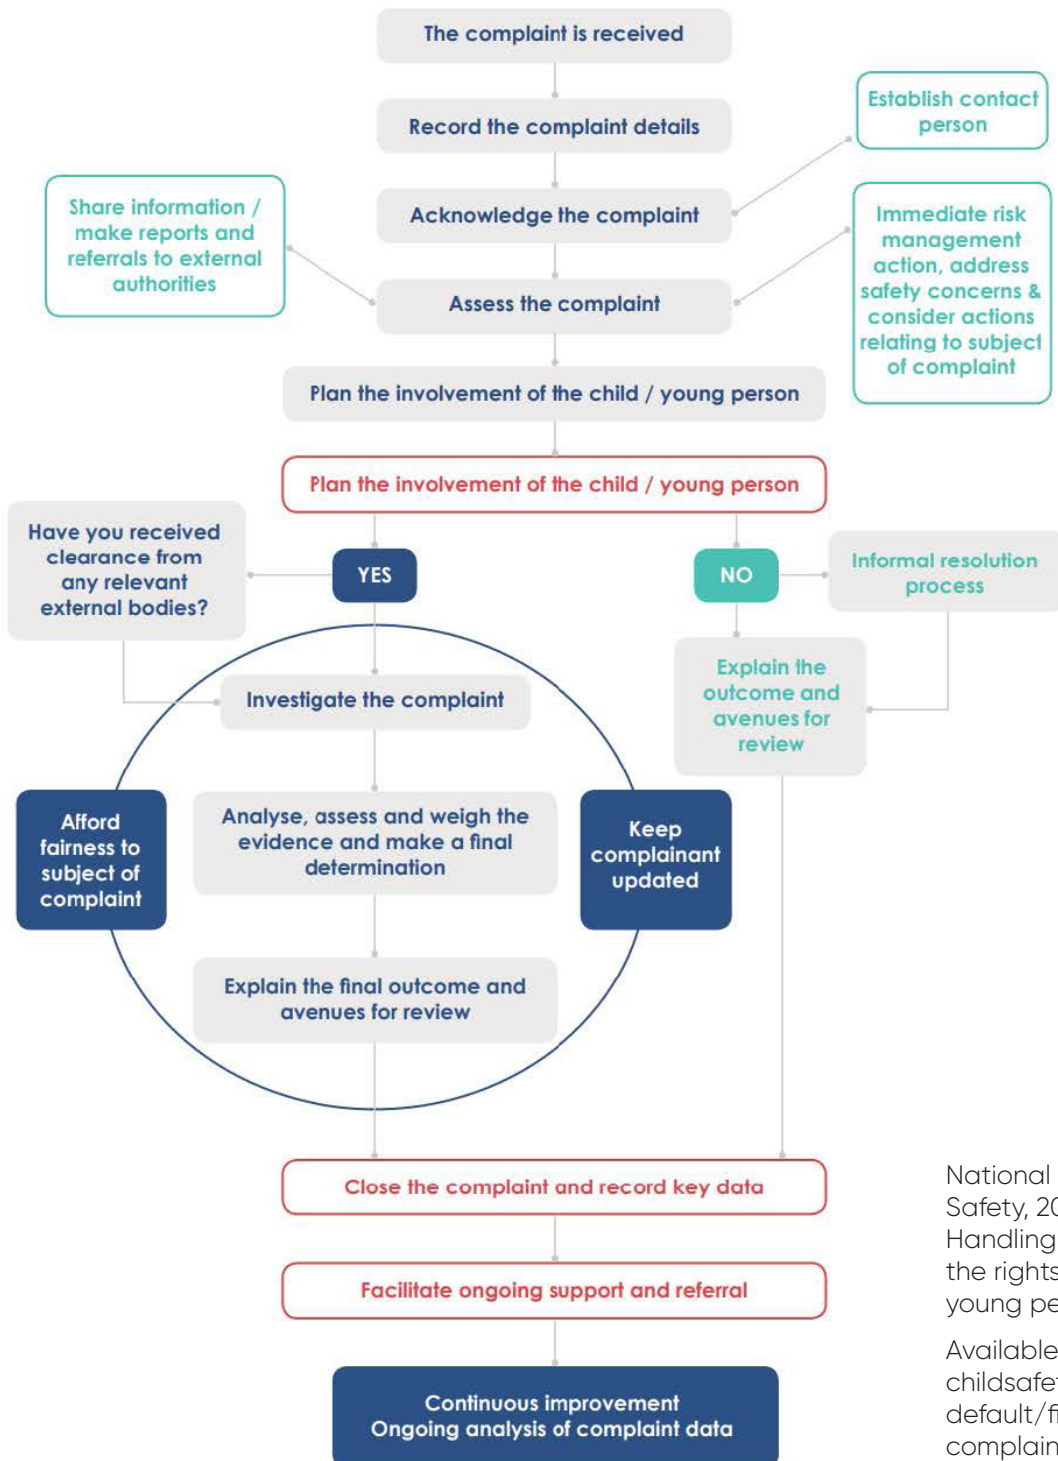

However, if the matter involves reportable conduct, it is an offence to disclose information that would enable the identification of a person who notified the CCYP of the matter or of a child in relation to whom a finding of reportable conduct was made. Therefore, that kind of information cannot be shared with the wider Mansfield Steiner School community.
